SHOEMAKER HISTORY

Harley C. Shoemaker
Founder of the first
Shoemaker's Truck Station

1954 - Don Shoemaker was discharged from the Air Force and moved with his wife Yvonne to Ventura, CA to join Don's Dad, Harley C. and brother Harley G. in starting their family owned truck station business on HWY 101. In those days "The 101" was a small three lane road. It is now upwards of 16 lanes in places (and still not wide enough).

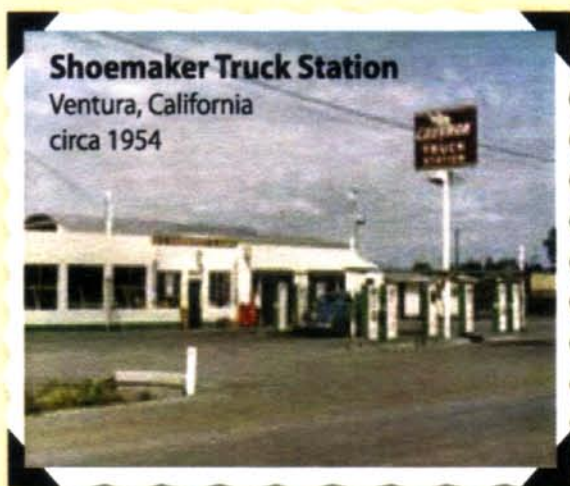

1961- Citing the success in Ventura, the Shoemaker family invests in a second truck stop on HWY 66 in Gallup, New Mexico. Harley G. and Don's other brother Roger Shoemaker joined forces with them at this time.

1966 - Due to near-simultaneous road expansion on HWY 101 and HWY 66, which bypassed both Shoemaker's Stations, the family closed both locations.

1967 - The Shoemaker brothers moved to Nebraska, buying their current corner on West "O" St from Skelly Oil out of Des Moines. At that time diesel sold for $.22 per gallon and I-80 ended at Grand Island, Ne. Harley C (dad) decided he had enough moving around and stayed in California.

1984-Roger sold his interest in Shoemaker's Truck Station to Don and Harley G.. This prompted the formation of D&H Real Estate. It was then decided that it would be easier to have one person operate the Station so Don leased the station to Harley G.

1985 - Don and his son, Randy, built the Cobbler Inn located directly behind the current Shoemaker's location, and are still operating it today.

1987 - Anne, Randy's wife, enjoyed several stints working at the Cobbler Inn. She helped when needed and bowed out when things were well under control.

2001 - Harley G. sold his interest in D&H Real Estate to Don and Don's wife Yvonne.

July 1, 2009, "Don & Randy Shoemaker's Cobbler Cafe" re-opens in the existing location - the same place Don and his brothers started in 1967. "Don & Randy Shoemaker's Cobbler Cafe" provides the home-cooked meals, snacks, and service that customers have come to expect from a premium truck station, and work with Phillips 66 to provide a range of high quality petroleum products.
